

The Conference: The theme for the 2006 IAFSM Annual Conference is EQUAL PARTNERS –Both Large and Small Community Floodplain and Stormwater Management Programs. Whether we serve large population communities or small population communities, whether we are involved in floodplain or stormwater management, we are all in this together. We may be local officials, engineers, consultants, planners, conservationists, architects or even landscape architects. We all have things to offer and to learn.

Conference presenters will explore ways of partnering and the use of available technologies. Speakers from federal, state, regional, and local agencies and the private sector will share their knowledge on current programs and the latest techniques. The conference provides excellent training and a place to connect with other floodplain and stormwater management professionals

CRS: The Community Rating System Committee is working to increase Illinois participation, so staff can meet individually with those interested in the CRS.

Location: The conference is at the Holiday Inn Select, Tinley Park, Illinois, I-80 and Illinois 43 (Harlem Ave). Driving directions will be sent with registration confirmation. www.hiselect.com/chitinleypark
